Equitation Classes: Athletes will be judged on their riding position, use of aids, and the ability to control their horse. Results as shown by the performance of the horse are not to be considered more important than the method used by the rider (SO rule 13.2.6). The judge will look for the proper riding seat, the proper use of natural and or artificial aids, and the rider's ability to control the horse, and the use of good horsemanship. Show clothing is always welcome but not required to participate in an Equitation Class.

Obstacle Classes: The judge will look for the athlete successfully completing each obstacle using good horsemanship and proper equitation, the use of aids, and the rider's ability to control the horse. The rider's proper attempt to complete an obstacle will be considered more important than the horse's performance (SO Rule 13.2.6). Show clothing is always welcome but not required to participate in an Obstacle Class.

Showmanship-like and Obstacle Course In-Hand Classes: Since these are non-riding classes, the Athlete/Riders are called Handlers. In both In-Hand classes, the judge will look for the Handler's proper horsemanship and knowledge of the designated pattern or course, but the horse is the focus. It is the Handler's job to make the horse look and perform its best. Traditional showmanship clothing is always welcome but it is not required to participate in an in-hand class.

Dressage Classes: Tests may be ridden or driven in a carriage. Athletes will be judged on the performance of each movement, the straightness, suppleness, rhythm (even paces), contact, impulsion, and collection of the horse, as well as communication between the athlete and horse. All tests may be called/read with the caller standing outside of the arena at A, B, or E. If a test is to be called, lateness in calling the movements and errors in reading the test will not relieve the rider from error penalties. Calling the test is limited to reading the movement as it is written only once. Repeating the movement by the caller will constitute assistance. Traditional dressage show clothing is always welcome but not required to participate in a dressage class.
